

5 Golden Rules for designing accessible rides

1. Engage and consult trained experts by experience* in the design and production process. Joint reflection and preparation time needs to be embedded.
2. Equip your staff with the right attitude, knowledge and skills.
3. Keep in mind that with multi-sensory rides almost every guest can have a magical experience.
4. Build a transdisciplinary collaboration between experts with professional or scientific knowledge and people who have more practical, experienced-based knowledge.
5. Welcome Universal Design as part of your company's strategy.
